Keep the land beautiful—

Choose vitrified clay pipe... your guarantee against pollution.

No matter how hard you study the problem of choosing sewer pipe, the best reason for choosing vitrified clay pipe is that it lasts. It has been in use in sewer systems for thousands of years. And, some of those systems are still in use today.

No one has been able to improve on the original material. It is acid proof. It will not oval or collapse under the weight of the earth above it. It won't change its shape and restrict sewage flow. And, clay pipe joints set the industry's standard for tightness. Vitrified clay is the one sewer pipe, once properly installed, that never has to be replaced. Ever.

FROM A PROUD PAST...

Robert C. Edwards
President

Man's capability to produce vast quantities of new knowledge at such a rapid pace has become the accent of this century, particularly the past decade.

Our reservoir of information has thus become more than an instrument for perpetuating our culture. It has come to be a prime index of our greatness, functioning not only as a source of our strength, but as a measure of our fitness to survive and grow as a State and Nation.

Under the dynamic leadership of President Robert C. Edwards, Clemson University is meeting, head-on, the demands for creating new knowledge by concentrating the full measure of its teaching, research, and public service activities into many highly delimited areas of effort.

Relying heavily on the rich legacy of 78 years of meaningful service to the State and Nation, and more especially the achievements of the past decade, the University is gearing its programs of academic endeavor and physical expansion to solve the mysteries and unconquered horizons of the future.

At the doorway of the 70's, a brief digression to review Clemson's record during the 60's will further solidify the point that achievements of the present and aspirations for the future are mutually dependent on a productive past.

Significant events of the past decade were the peaceful accomplishment of racial integration (1963); the official change of the institution's name to Clemson University (1964); enrichment and expansion of academic programs; and the construction of $32 million in new and improved buildings and facilities.

The 60's were also the years in which . . .

- A tremendous 73 per cent surge in enrollment gave the University a total student body of more than 7,000 by the end of the decade as compared with 4,048 students in 1960-61.
- The number of main campus faculty increased from 326 to 646, with 59 per cent holding terminal degrees as compared with 33 per cent when the decade began.
- The University's total number of major academic units doubled with the addition of six new colleges and schools.
- Undergraduate courses increased from 706 to 1,221; graduate courses from 480 to 1,219.
- Thirteen new undergraduate curricula were initiated, which at the beginning of the 1969-70 academic year accounted for 23 per cent of the total undergraduate enrollment.
- Graduate education, in its infancy in 1960 with 25 Master's degree programs and four Ph.D. programs, matured into a prestigious academic unit which boasted 45 Master's programs and 23 Ph.D. programs in 1969-70.

to an exciting future

- Two-year college parallel programs for freshman and sophomore years were made available in Greenville and Sumter with the launching of satellite Clemson campuses.

- Thirty-six per cent of all degrees conferred by the University, or 8,020, were awarded.

- As the State's leading institution in agricultural teaching, research, and extension services, Clemson has made important contributions to the technological revolution in modern agriculture. The Livestock-Poultry Health Department continued as an effective weapon in control and eradication of animal disease. The 1967 South Carolina Meat and Meat Food Regulations and Inspection Law was given to this department to administer. Two years later, the Poultry Inspection Law was enacted and incorporated with meat inspection to form the Meat and Poultry Inspection Service of the University.

- Concern over the quality of man's environment became one of the great national issues. Clemson, which had already been involved in pollution control work for many years, made a commitment to be at the forefront in the national thrust to solve the problems of controlling and protecting the environment.

As the University moves farther into its fourth quarter-century, the tremendous accomplishments of the past will serve as fitting prologue foreshadowing greater and even more significant events for the future.

Clemson today faces the challenge of tomorrow with relevant educational programs focusing on conditions of our time and of times to come.

Merging a broad range of specialized talents into an interdisciplinary approach, the University is channeling student interest and eagerness to solve contemporary problems into realistic, constructive academic and research programs.

No one is better informed about or more concerned with Clemson's future than President Edwards. He is extremely conscious of the University's many responsibilities in living up to the accomplishments of its past; in maintaining the progress and achievements of the present; and in realizing the challenges and obstacles which lie ahead in the years to come.

"The potentials which the future holds for us are great beyond all expectation," Dr. Edwards says. "Through education, the impossible of today will be the commonplace of tomorrow. There is one thing we know — there is no status quo in the world today. We live in the midst of a tremendous technological and information explosion. This is why it is most imperative that the spirit of progress indicative of Clemson University, past and present, must and shall continue in the Clemson University of the future."

FRANK HOWARD

Assistant To The Vice President of Student Affairs

In the past two years, Frank Howard has dropped two titles and picked up another one. Following the 1969 season Howard relinquished his post of head coach to Hootie Ingram, keeping the athletic director's position. This past February Howard was named assistant to the vice president of student affairs when Bill McLellan was named athletic director.

Howard, in essence, has the number two post in the student affairs office, and administering the operations of the athletic department is one of the functions of this office.

But instead of being tied down to an endless task of paper work as his present title might indicate, Howard has turned his fulltime in a public relations role, making more speeches and appearances than he ever dreamed possible. His travels now carry him out more often and to many distant places. He has just completed a year where he served as chairman of the South Carolina Heart Fund when he was constantly making personal appearances for this worthy cause.

During his active coaching days, Howard was one of the most successful in business. He carried Clemson to six post-season bowl games while he was head coach which was nothing new to the 62-year-old veteran. He played in the 1931 Rose Bowl with Alabama and was an assistant coach when Clemson went to the 1940 Cotton Bowl.

When Howard retired after the 1969 season he had the longest tenure in the nation and all of his head coaching was at one school. He posted 165 victories, which ranked 19th among all coaches, active or retired. Howard became a task master of hard nosed football. His players knew it as did his opponents. No one did more for football in South Carolina than Howard and few in the nation carried a better reputation.

Joined Clemson staff August, 1931, after graduation from college. Served as Clemson line coach nine years. Was Clemson head football coach 30 years, which at time of retirement, was longest tenure in nation. Appointed assistant to the vice president of student affairs Feb. 4, 1971.

Responsibilities: No. 2 man in the office of Vice President of Student Affairs, which directly administers operation of athletic department. Clemson's goodwill ambassador. Makes numerous speeches during year. 1971 will be 41st on Clemson staff.

Personal Information: Born — Barlow Bend, Ala., March 25, 1909. High School — Attended Barton Academy, graduated from Murphy High School, Mobile, Ala., lettered 3 years in baseball, 2 in basketball, 2 in football. College — Alabama, graduated with BS degree in business administration in 1931, lettered 3 years in football, 3 years in baseball. College fraternity — Omega Delta Kappa. Married — Anna Tribble of Anderson, S. C., Aug. 23, 1933. Children — Mrs. Robert E. McClure (Alice) of Gastonia, N. C.; Jimmy (graduated from Clemson with honors, June, 1964, received master's degree in horticulture from Clemson, May, 1967). Research assistant, Crop Pest Commission, Clemson University. Grandchildren — Robert Howard McClure, Sam Howard McClure.

Bowl Game Participation: 8 — 1 as a player with Alabama (1931 Rose), 1 as an assistant coach with Clemson (1940 Cotton), 6 as head coach at Clemson (1949 Gator, 1951 Orange, 1952 Gator, 1957 Orange, 1959 Sugar, 1959 Bluebonnet).

BILL McLELLAN

Athletic Director

Bill McLellan came up through the ranks in the athletic department. He literally became a jack of all trades, wearing six hats at a time — more if necessary. But his untiring efforts and his ability to grasp any situation paid off for him this past February.

It was then he was named athletic director, succeeding Frank Howard, which would have scared the pants off most people. But Howard himself had said before, "Bill's been doing all the work, so he ought to have the title."

McLellan came to the athletic department in May, 1958, and the personnel office listed him as assistant business manager.

But he handled the tickets, saw that the grass was cut, replaced light bulbs, purchased equipment and when normal working hours were over for most of the university, he was on the football field coaching. During the days of the intricate substitution, McLellan was the sideline bookkeeper for Howard.

Those who are close to McLellan marvel at his boundless energy. But seldom does he waste a minute. He can handle three or four people in his office at one time, all carrying on a different conversation . . . and all leaving with an answer.

Such is the legacy of Bill McLellan, the AD.

Joined athletic staff May 1, 1958, from Department of Agricultural Economics and Seed Certification at Clemson.

Responsibilities: Is in charge of the entire operation of the Clemson intercollegiate athletic program.

HOOTIE INGRAM

Head Football Coach

The final won-lost record of Clemson last season was more disappointing to Hootie Ingram than anyone else. He came here with visions of giving the Clemson followers a winning brand of football.

And although it didn't happen in his first try, Ingram believes that a good foundation was laid and the dividends should begin showing up this season.

Assembling coaches from all directions and blending them with players using a new system was a complete new world for all concerned. A chorus doesn't sing a song perfect through the first time. But the second time around there's usually improvement.

And Ingram believes that will be true of his football team this fall. He stood 10 years on the sidelines as an assistant coach, carefully watching the moves of his head coach.

Some talent and leadership, along with a little luck, go into the making of a good football team. Ingram believes there'll be more talent on his second Clemson team and leadership where it counts. No one has control of luck, but Ingram hopes Clemson has its share.

If toil and sweat on the practice field are any criteria, Ingram should see better results each Saturday afternoon this fall.

Tates Locke enters his second season as head coach of the Clemson basketball team and his optimistic vein is running warmer than a year ago.

Not only does Locke have five returnees from last year's 9-17 team, but he has brought in three junior college transfers, has four players advancing from the freshman team, two of whom averaged 46.7 points between them, plus a red shirt sophomore.

Dave Angel, who stands 6-11, led the team in scoring and rebounding as a sophomore in the last campaign, and he is joined by another starter, Bud Martin. Other juniors back are Joe Cooley, Craig Mobley and John Williams. Bo Hawkins is the lone senior.

Locke plans to blend his four rising sophomores — Gale Housley, Dennis Odle, Terrell Suit and Mitch Uzzle — with these upperclassmen and JUCO's Anthony Brown, Mel Francisco and Danny Miller and holdout Mike Browning.

Brown led nearby Anderson Junior College in scoring with a 20.6 mark, Francisco averaged 15.4 points and 16 rebounds for Brevard JC in Cocoa, Fla., and Miller was the leading scorer for Ranger (Tex.) JC.

Locke has signed what some call "the best group of basketball recruits in Clemson history" and he also has Marty Paterson, a 6-9 transfer from The Citadel, sitting out this season with three years of eligibility remaining.

ACC Comments: The Best ACC Player I Have Faced

ART SEYMORE

ANDY SELFIDGE, Virginia tackle: When asked to pinpoint the best ACC Player I have faced, my initial thoughts revolved around the outstanding offensive linemen that I have competed against. On second thought, however, it became apparent that my choice would have to be Wake Forest quarterback Larry Russell. On the day we played the Deacons last season, Larry was unstoppable as a passer. He was equally effective as a runner in his role as the scrambling quarterback. On a number of occasions his moves against a defender turned apparent obvious losses into first downs. His leadership capabilities were especially apparent on that particular day and throughout the season as he led the Deacons to the championship.

VAN WALKER, N. C. State defensive back: It is very difficult for me to pick just one as the best ACC player I have faced. And being a defensive back one would most likely expect someone playing my position to credit a receiver. But the one name that really sticks in my mind is Art Seymore, Maryland's outstanding running back. Art gave me considerable trouble last year on end sweeps and broken off-tackle plays. His physical size wouldn't scare anyone but his speed and agility make him truly an outstanding player. Art, being only a sophomore last year, will help Maryland's offensive punch even more the next two seasons. Knowing I have to face him again this fall I will assure everyone that I'll respect his ability.

STEVE JONES

RICKY PACKARD, North Carolina linebacker: It's extremely difficult to single out one player as the best I have faced since coming to North Carolina. There have been many outstanding players in the ACC the last couple of years. To pick the best one returning for the 1971 season I will have to take Bill Bobbora, the all-conference guard from Wake Forest. He's very big, about 225 pounds, and quick. But it's his aggressiveness that really makes him tough. He just keeps coming at you. He's a great competitor and it's going to be a challenge for our defense to play against him and the rest of Wake Forest's offensive line this season.

NICK VRHOVAC, Wake Forest center: There is no doubt in my mind that the most outstanding player I have faced in the ACC is George Smith, N. C. State's tough middle guard. Unlike many middle guards that I have faced, George plays in a soft-nose technique, one where he plays standing up about a yard away from the line of scrimmage. This makes it difficult for me to block him because of his great ability to use his hands to shed blockers and his great pursuit to the ball. The thing I admire most about him is, even though he is short in stature, he has excellent quickness, strength and aggressiveness. In my opinion, George Smith is probably one of the best middle guards in college football today.

ART SEYMORE, Maryland back: Being a running back I have run into several hard-hitting linebackers, however, there is one defensive back in the ACC who impressed me a great deal last season. Don Kelley of Clemson carried the ball for 223 yards against us last year which turned out to be exactly 11 yards more than the Clemson offensive backs gained. All Kelley did in the fourth quarter, with the score tied at 3-3, was return a punt 85 yards to break the tie, and then three plays later intercept a pass and return it to our two-yard line. He also came up with a fumble in the fourth period. He had a 58-yard punt return to our six-yard line in the first quarter. You have to get to Kelley quick when he gets his hands on the ball or it develops into a race for the goal line. He is not afraid to gamble on defense and against us he was great. I spent a lot of time chasing him in that game.

LARRY HEFNER, Clemson linebacker: There are many outstanding performers in the ACC but in my estimation Wake Forest quarterback Larry Russell stands just a head taller than the rest. Russell did a magnificent job in directing the Wake Forest triple-option as the Deacons rolled to the conference championship. He is a most effective passer and in my judgment was the most dangerous and exciting individual I played against all last year. Against us he carried the ball 18 times and picked up 94 yards and scored two touchdowns. He also completed four of five passes for 54 yards. He is a tremendous athlete and one that never gives up. Not only is he an excellent field general but is an outstanding individual as well. Larry is a credit to Wake Forest and the ACC.

LARRY HEFNER

STEVE JONES, Duke fullback: In my first varsity season, I gained much experience playing against some truly outstanding players in the ACC as well as against outside competition. Since an offensive back has certain responsibilities on almost every play he is always in contact with an opposing player. Due to this contact, a player gains a great deal of respect for his opponents and the way they perform. During the 1970 season I played against some of the best and I consider Ed Stetz, middle linebacker for Wake Forest, and George Smith, middle guard at N. C. State, two outstanding defensive players with much desire and ability for football.

THE KENTUCKY SERIES...

It has been nearly two decades since the football teams of Clemson and Kentucky played each other. But today's game will renew the series and three more games are planned in the next 10 years.

Both schools today have two young coaches who are attempting to rebuild football teams to powers that their institutions have been known for in the past.

Hootie Ingram came on the Clemson scene last year and suffered through a 3-8 season, but the spark he has kindled under his Tigers during the spring and in the fall practice should be evident on the gridiron this fall.

Coach John Ray of Kentucky has his "first crop" of recruits performing as sophomores this season, and expects vast improvements on his first two editions which posted 2-8 and 2-9 marks.

There is a strong sprinkling of sophomores throughout the Kentucky lineup today, and they expect to continue the winning ways of the Wildcats which they started last year.

As freshmen, they bumped Tennessee 19-14, Marshall 40-14, Virginia Tech 38-20 and Vanderbilt 41-17 before losing 10-7 to Ohio State.

Ingram, like Ray, is also putting a lot of dependence in sophomores, a few in starting roles, but mainly backups to junior and senior lettermen. The Tiger frosh were also 4-1 in 1970, and the juniors on this year's Clemson team were undefeated as freshmen.

But both coaches today will not consider if a player is a senior, junior or sophomore. Each will attempt to put his best 11 men on the field at one time.

The game is of vast importance to coaches, players and alumni at both schools. This is the start of another season. And you can't have an undefeated season by losing the first game.

The Clemson University family not only welcomes the University of Kentucky football team and its followers to Clemson for the first time ever, but also extends a "heartly howdy" to the 21 high school bands who will perform at halftime.

This colorful display of dazzling uniforms and spirited marching music has been a look-to occasion during the Clemson home season for over a decade and a half.

The stage is set. Fall is on the horizon. Football is at hand. And to every red-blooded follower of collegiate sports, this is what they have been waiting for since last November.

TEAMWORK PAYS OFF

Clemson football teams, down through the years, have been noted for their hard-nosed style of play. The 1970 season was no exception. Linebacker Jim Sursavage (80) has the stopper on Georgia Tech quarterback Eddie McAshan (1) and waits for assistance from defensive end Wayne Baker (95). The Tigers gave McAshan one of his most disappointing days and it wasn't until Jack Williams came off the bench that the Yellow Jackets gained a 28-7 victory.

John McMakin (85), who led Clemson in receiving with 40 catches good for 532 yards, was a receiver on this play himself, but quarterback Tommy Kendrick found flanker Bobby Johnson (87) open and hit the Columbia sophomore for a 38-yard gain against Virginia. McMakin came back to provide some crisp blocking, assisting Johnson for an additional gain.

At Camp Hope it's another scorching hot but eventful day.

The attentive ear of a college-age counselor sharing a moment of discovery with a young camper; gleeful children splashing in the lake; a chafed knee; tears coaxed into laughter; — such are the minor triumphs and tragedies that add up to a unique summer experience for some “exceptional” children.

Breaking through walls of loneliness to extend a helping hand to some of South Carolina's 85,000 mentally retarded children is the purpose of Camp Hope.

The only residential camp for retarded children in the state, Camp Hope has offered several sessions the past two summers at Clemson University's 300-acre Camp Long site near Aiken.

All the activities of the camp are structured to give the children the chance to make personal discoveries about nature, camping life, and most importantly, about themselves.

A maximum of about 150 campers can attend each session with accommodations also available for a limited number of mentally retarded children who are physically handicapped.

Camp Hope is a joint project of the S.C. Association for Retarded Children and Clemson University, with financial assistance provided by the S.C. Jaycees since 1968.

Heavily forested and located seven miles northeast of Aiken, the camp is operated by the Department of Recreation and Park Administration (RPA) of Clemson's College of Forest and Recreation Resources.

Camp Hope does not subsidize individual campers, but several “camper-ships” are donated each year by chapters of the S.C. Association for Retarded Children, private citizens, the Jaycees and other civic groups.

“Camp Hope teaches the children how to handle personal problems, have fun living and learning with others in the outdoors, and adjust to new experiences away from what is frequently a sheltered home environment,” says Charles R. White, camp director and assistant professor of RPA at Clemson.

“The campers are encouraged to do most things for themselves. Under careful supervision they make their own campfires, cook simple meals, pitch tents and put up other camping structures,” says White.

Besides personal and housekeeping chores, they also explore the forest on short hikes, ride horses, fish, play volleyball, water sports and other games, and have cookouts, arts and crafts lessons, and group sings.

come tumbling down

Bunking 10 to 12 children and three or four counselors in log cabins, the campers live, eat, work and play together during the session. Both individual development and teamwork are stressed in their daily activities. Including specialist staff members, the ratio of campers to counselors is about 2 to 1.

Like all good campers, they cooperate in special work projects and look forward to reveille, flag ceremonies, overnight camping trips, and "hut chatter," those indispensable chats with counselors.

Typically, most of the children arriving at the start of each session are hesitant, perhaps a bit bewildered by it all.

But by the end of their stay they have conquered much of that shyness and self-consciousness. Many have reached within themselves to tap hidden leadership potential. All have bolstered self-reliance and self-confidence.

Leaving Camp Hope is generally one of those sad moments, nameless and deeply felt, that accompanies the end of any meaningful human experience. Even children who were at first severely withdrawn, impulsively hug counselor after counselor, clinging closely before saying that final good-bye to people and to a place they have come to love.

Camp Hope would not be possible without the dedication of its highly skilled and qualified 55-member staff or the bond of affection between the children and their counselors. But it is really the children who are the most exceptional thing about Camp Hope.

"It's amazing how these kids are really so much like all other children," says one Clemson student who was a Camp Hope counselor.

"They have the same wants, needs and fears that all children have. Of course, they require more patience and closer supervision from us, but except for that, their experience is just about what it is at any summer camp," he says.

Camp Hope and the concept behind it are seen by Clemson University as important first steps in the direction of eventually making camping opportunities available to all handicapped persons in the state.

"At Clemson's proposed Recreation and Outdoor Education Research Laboratory on Lake Hartwell, we would like to provide year-round camping for the orthopedically handicapped, blind, deaf, aged, mentally retarded, and other handicapped groups in South Carolina," says Charles White. "It is also our hope that Camp Hopes will soon be established throughout the nation."

A GREAT RUNNER.

You expect a little car to be a good sprinter. Nimble, light on its feet, fine for short runs around town.

Vega is all that.

But what sets Vega apart is that it's one little car that's good on long runs too.

One reason is its relatively large 140-cubic-inch overhead cam engine. It can cruise comfortably at turnpike speeds without straining, and with power to spare.

Vega is built low to the ground, and wide, so it takes curves without a lot of lean and hangs onto a windy highway like it weighed a whole lot more.

The steering is easy. Yet firm and reassuring on straight stretches.

What we're saying is, for an economy car, Vega sure feels a lot like a sports car.

Get into one soon and see. It'll give you a good run for your money.

Great runner meets great runner. Former Heisman Trophy winner O.J. Simpson behind the wheel of a Vega Hatchback Coupe.

Buckle your seat and shoulder belts.
It's an idea you can live with.

Athletes Post Highest Grades

Clemson athletes recorded their highest academic average in the past 11 years during the 1970-71 school year, according to grades obtained from the Clemson registrar's office.

The study was made on 289 athletes, 202 varsity and 87 freshmen, who either participated in one of the 11 recognized sports, or who received aid and was held out for some reason at another.

My, how the old neighborhood has changed.

Three hundred years ago, the Keowee Valley was a great Cherokee trading center. And you should see it now. Now, it's the site of our Keowee-Toxaway Visitors Center.

Where you can see first hand huge nuclear reactors taking shape outside. Where you can learn the secrets of the atom. Where you can visit the past, the present, the future of power and get the answers to all those questions you've always wanted to ask. It's an exciting, award-winning exhibition with spectacular demonstrations you can operate yourself. And dramatic display chambers filled with sight and sound. All at no charge. It's located near the intersection of SC 183 and SC 130, north of Clemson, S. C. A short hop from I-85, US-123, US-25, or US-64. And you're welcome anytime from 10 to 5 weekdays, 1 to 6 on Sundays, holidays included. For an illustrated booklet, contact any Duke Power office or write the Visitors Center, P. O. Box 308, Clemson, S. C. 29631.

Come. Bring a picnic lunch and a boat, if you like. And see this fantastic place.

CONTRIBUTIONS INCREASE

The 37th IPTAY year closed this past August 31st, and for the seventh consecutive year, the club noted an increase in contributions.

The total amount given during the fiscal year of IPTAY amounted to over $376,000. The goal set for the next 12 months is $500,000.

IPTAY, which stands for I Pay Twenty A Year, is Clemson's scholarship club and it is solely through these means that the Tigers are able to maintain a healthy athletic program in 11 inter-collegiate sports.

Thousands of student-athletes have received an education through IPTAY, many of whom could not have attended college except through these means. And with the rising costs in the field of education each year, the need for additional memberships increases each year.

During the past year there were 6,658 regular $20 memberships, there were 1,621 $100 Gold Card members, 139 members who gave $250, 45 $500 Gold Carders, 18 $1,000 donors and three $2,000 members, who are known as IPTAY Scholarship Donors. This totals 8,484 of all memberships and represents 94 per cent of the goal set.

IPTAY was started — and still functions — with one purpose in mind, that is, to finance athletic scholarships at Clemson. Not one single penny contributed during the past 37 years has been used for any other purpose. All contributions are tax deductible.

From the records available, there were 185 people who were members of IPTAY during that first year of 1934-35. Over a third of these are now deceased, but better than 60 per cent of those still living are members today and over a fifth of them are Gold Card members.

The late Dr. Rupert H. (Rube) Fike was the father of IPTAY. It was his idea that something should be done to support athletics at Clemson. His thought was being churned around when the Tigers were at one of their lowest depths of football. The team had won only seven games, while losing 17 and tying five in three years.

The idea of the seven people who started IPTAY was to get 100 more members. They never dreamed IPTAY would become one of the foremost scholarship organizations in America.

Tiger athletic teams have won numerous conference championships, not to mention many individual honors.

IPTAY is another way to spell Clemson athletics.

Photographers covering Clemson's home games have some of the finest facilities to be found anywhere, in addition to a home crew of photographers who are ready to assist in any way possible.

Cameramen look for ideal working conditions, ample working room and an atmosphere conducive to their needs. All of these can be found in the Clemson press box.

Movie crews filming the game for Clemson and the visiting team have a 27-foot open section right in the middle of the second deck of the press box which will easily accommodate six movie tripods.

One flight up is a 35-yard long "front row" for still cameras and those filming for TV. No one is too far off the 50-yard line with a good angle afforded everyone who shoots from the top deck.

Photographers, as well as sportswriters covering Clemson's home games, have become accustomed to the third floor of the press box. Behind the row of cameras is the famous buffet served for those covering the game where the finest of food is enjoyed picnic style from the "Top of the Valley."

This year facilities for the latest thing in filing press copy are being installed. Many sportswriters now use a telecopier where copy is fed into a machine from the press box and it comes out at the specified newspaper, ready for the composing room.

Chief photographer Charles Haralson and his assistants, Tom Shockley, Hal Smith and Dave Garrison, are on hand for two reasons: to shoot game films for the athletic staff; and to assist visiting photographers covering the game should an emergency arise.

Harry Durham and Jim Burns head up the Clemson Communications Center and devote their time seeing that all runs well, and at the same time, always willing to lend a helping hand.

Game action is shot during the first half of each home game by a staff photographer and a set of pictures (five or six prints) is furnished to any news media requesting this service before the end of the game.

This rapid service is done through a Fotorite machine, a rapid print processing, and is the only one in use in the Atlantic Coast Conference and one of the few in the nation used as such.

During the past nine seasons approximately 3,700 photos have been given free to the press by this process, thanks to the closely-knit and cooperative crew of the Communications Center.

Radio Adds Frosh Games...

Clemson football games can be heard in every corner of South Carolina, and in many fringe areas of Georgia and North Carolina. And this is the way it should be. The Tigers have more fans than anyone in the state and the Clemson Football Network tries to reach all of those unable to come to the game.

The network enters its 18th year in 1971, with Jim Phillips, sports director of WFBC-TV in Greenville, again handling the play-by-play for the third straight year.

Jeff Odenwald, general manager of the Greenwood Braves of the Western Carolinas League, who has had seven years of broadcast experience, will handle the color for the first time.

To assure the best possible professional broadcast, Jim Lynn of the WFBC engineering staff, will serve as producer-director of the broadcast.

The network is being expanded this season to include the three freshman home games. All of these games are to be played Monday afternoon instead of Friday and will not interfere with any high school games.

For the second straight year there will be a pre-game as well as a post-game show by Clemson head coach, Hootie Ingram.

The network will sign on 20 minutes before kickoff and stay on the air 10 minutes following the wrap-up period when Phillips and Ingram will comment on what to expect in the game, then just a few minutes away; as well as presenting quick observations on the game just completed.

Phillips has had 18 years of broadcasting experience. He came from his native Ohio where he was affiliated at various times with stations in Alliance, Ashland and Lima. Before coming with the Clemson network, Phillips did the play-by-play for the Kent State University Network.

Odenwald, also a native of Ohio, graduated from Ohio State in 1969. While in college he worked four and a half years with WBNS-TV in Columbus, going from the floor crew to the production staff and covered all facets of television production. He also worked with the Ohio State closed circuit TV network as producer-director.

Since going to Greenwood in Sept., 1969, Odenwald has done a daily 15-minute sports show on Station WG-SW and last winter did commentary for all 30 Lander College basketball games over Greenwood's channel 2.

Because of one night game last fall the Clemson Network averaged 55 stations a game, but should return to about a 58-59 average this fall, making it one of the nation's largest university-operated networks.

IPTAY--

-Special Recognition-

Several thousand former Clemson student-athletes, as well as several hundred currently enrolled at the university, depend solely on contributions from individuals and firms for their education. This is administered through the Clemson IPTAY Club, which since 1934, has used the monies received for athletic scholarships only. Clemson has set an outstanding example for other educational institutions throughout the nation with its IPTAY program. Clemson athletics would be nowhere near the high plateau it maintains today without these individuals and firms who believe in the Clemson program and contribute to its success. It is with pleasure, and with their permission, that we pay tribute to those so vitally interested in the Clemson athletic program.

Letterman's Association . . .

The Association of Tiger Lettermen of Clemson University was organized this past summer by former students and athletes who are interested in promoting the continuing athletic excellence of Clemson, as well as affording the opportunity for fellowship among active members, honorary members, student athletes and members of the university's athletic department.

Charlie Bussey, a quarterback on the 1954-55-56 teams, the latter of which played in the 1957 Orange Bowl, was elected the association's first president.

Doc Morgan was chosen vice president and Gene Willimon was elected secretary-treasurer.

The constitution of the organization stipulates that there shall be 12 directors, with at least six sports represented and no more than three directors from any one sport.

Named to serve on the first board were: Phil Prince, Gil Rushton and Bill Hudson representing football; Ames Wells and Banks McFadden representing basketball; Harold Stowe, Doug Kingsmore and Jim Coleman,

There will be a drop-in for members on the third floor of Fike Field House, at 11 a.m. on the day of each home football game.

representing baseball; Jimmy Wells and Marshall Walker representing track; Bill Yarborough representing golf; and George Bennett representing cheerleaders.

There are two classes of membership in the association. Active membership is open to any former student of Clemson who received a letter from the athletic department in any sport; and a person shall be eligible for an honorary membership upon the recommendation of three fourths of the board of directors and upon subsequent approval by a majority in attendance at any associational meeting.

Coach Frank Howard, former athletic director and head football coach at Clemson, is the first and only honorary member of the association thus far.

After several preliminary meetings an organizational meeting was held at Clemson June 25th at which time officers were elected and a constitution adopted. All former students awarded a letter by the Athletic Department are invited to become a member by completing the blank below and mailing as shown.
